

Software Licence Agreement

You may not bypass any technical protection measure in the software.
These terms override all previous agreements between the parties.
The licensor acts as a data processor under applicable law.

Please read the instructions before answering anything else.